EXTENSIVE OPERATIONS BEING CARRIED OUT AT CARLYLE MINE

While the business depression has been at its lowest, the Metal Products Holding Corporation, operating the Carlyle mine on Old Man Mountain, Nevada County, eight miles North of Cisco, has spent more than $50,000 in equipment, supplies and development. Since operations got under way in September, officials of the company say, a force of 21 men has been driving a crosscut tunnel which will intersect the nine major fissures in the property before next summer. On account of the apex of the ore bodies being 2000 feet above the tunnel level, a large tonnage can be developed more rapidly than at any other property in the state. Already the management of the company declared that there are aavilable 2,000,000 tons of ore that will average from $10 to $15 and better a ton in gold. some silver and 1.5 per cent copper. Thousands of feet of preliminary work have already been done.

Last September Walter Arnstein, Max Cohen and J. W. Pausen of San Francisco, and Clarence T. Johnston of Menlo Park, well known financiers, became interested in the property. Since then they have carried on the financing of the company. A cross cut tunnel has been driven almost 200 feet and will be extended 1000 feet further as rapidly as possible. As soon as more supplies and equipment can be hauled into camp, the force of men will be increased.

Since work started last fall six miles of road has been constructed, a bridge with a 60-foot span has been built over Fordyee Creek, an office building, bunk house and other buildings erected, all camp buildings repaired and put in first class condition, a powder magazine built, a 1500 foot tramway put in extending from the camp to the mouth of the tunnel, a 2200 foot air line, a 30x50 foot building constructed for housing the 100-horse power Diesel engine, compressor and other machinery. In addition, drills, and a full equipment of mining machinery and tools have been installed, making one of the best equipped camps in Nevada County.

The crew of 21 men was employed until a few days ago, when on account of the shortage of supplies it was cut down. Within 30 days, when supplies and additional equipment can be sent into camp, a much larger force will be employed. By summer it is expected that the ore will be opened up sufficiently in the lower levels to insure the building of the first unit of a mill.

The 5x7 tunnel ,now in almost 200 feet, has cut one of the main fissures, being better than five feet wide and carrying the same average as the ores in the other parts of the property. Within the next 200 feet the Eagle vein will be cut, which at this point will give 800 feet of backs. This vein can be followed over Old Mountain, from east to west, for a distance of better than a mile. At the west side of the mountain it outcrops from 30 to 40 feet above ground. Over the entire distance the vein shows a width of from four to fifty feet. Following the vein west from the tunnel a depth of 1500 feet will be attained in 1000 feet of drifting. It is the intention to drift both days on the fissures and put ore in sight as quickly as possible.

The property consists of 40 claims, covering Old Mountain, cut by nine, large, major, east and west veins, and a dozen or more north-south veins that crosscut. So prominently do the fissures show against the stark, grandiorite sides of Old Man Mountain, that the property looks like a many decked sandwich that has been placed on edge.

Due to the fact that a large tonnage can be mined by the shrinkage system, scarcely any timbering be-in necessary, operations will be chiefly by gravity. Located along Fordyce Creek where there is an abundance of water and power for all purposes, excellent mill sites, and plenty of timber on the property, it is estimated that mining and milling costs will be very low.

The financink of the company has been done by the interests that recently went into it. They are people who are capable of makig it one of the largest properties in the state. For eight years Harry D. Ramsay, president of the company, has driven tunnels, shafts, winzes and raises on the ground, until today it is sufficiently opened up to determine the probable extent of the ore bodies. From the camp on Fordyce Creek the top of Old Man Mountain, where the Eagle vein outcrops and has been developed for a depth of several hundred feet, the distance in altitude is 1700 feet. As the same ore body is found on the side of the mountain of the same level as the camp, it seems certain that it extends to that depth. The new crosscut tunnel will shortly determine that point.

The officers of the company are Harry D. Ramsay, president; Walter Arnstein, vice president and general manager; William F. Stoneback, secretary and Miss Mildred Smith, assistant secretary.

The directors are Walter Arnstein, San Francisco capitalist, J. W. Pauson, San Francisco capitalist and oil operator, Clarence T. Johnston, Menlo Park capitalist, inventor and engineer, William F. Stoneback, formerly with George Winfield and the Goldfield Consolidated Mines and Harry D. Ramsay of Berkeley.

The Carlyle mine was formerly owned by the Royal Development Company and it still owns a large interest in the corporation.

EMPIRE MINE DOING EXPLORATORY WORK

By Ray D. Harris

JACKSON, Cal., Jan. 28.—(Special).—Exploratory work, designed to reveal the northern extension of the Empire Mine vein in the Pacific Mine section of the Plymouth Consolidated property, at Plymouth, eight miles north of Sutter Creek, is being prosecuted by the Argonaut Mining Company, owner of the famous Argonaut Mine on the outskirts of Jackson. A crew of ten miners is employed in advancing a croscut west from the Pacific shaft at the 900-foot level for the purpose named. This crosscut has een run approximately 100 feet and it is calculateu that its ojective should e reached with aout 50 feet of additional work.

The Empire Mine has a romantic history and figures prominently in the annals of early-day California mining. It, like the adjoining Pacific Mine, the two of which constitute the present Plymouth Consolidated, was originally developed by the late James Hayward, famed as a pioneer mine operator of California and the west. The Empire orebody was worked in the Empire ground to an incline depth of 1300 feet and a vertical depth of 1140 feet, and is credited with an early day production of $6,000,000 to $8,000,000, principally gold. The shafts of the two mines are about 1500 feet apart and were connected by a drift on the 1140-foot level of the Pacific. It is understood from an authentic source that a pump capable of handling 1500 gallons of water a minute is soon to be installed on the 1040-foot level of the Pacific shaft. In view of the past production records of the Empire and Pacific mines current operations in the latter are being watched by mining men with keen interest.

The Kennedy Mining and Milling Company, operatig the Kennedy Mine, the deepest gold mine in the United States, and next-door neighbor of the Argonaut mine, juht north of Jackson, is experimenting with the oil flotation process in the treatment of its ores. Up to the present time ,amalgamation and concentration have been used alone in the reduction of the output.

To expedite operations, a hoist and three-drill compressor have been installed on the Quartz Mountain mine, four and a half miles northeast of Sutter Creek, by Anderson Callison, Los Angeles and San Francisco oil operator, who r[illegible] the property in asso[illegible] R. Murphy, who is d[illegible] development. Mr. Murp[illegible] formerly connected with the [illegible]heim interests in Idaho, the old Amalgamated Copper Company in Montana and Wingfield properties in Nevada.

Sinking has been resumed in [illegible] shaft, which now has a depth of about 60 feet. It will be sent down to the 150-foot point before lateral work on an extensive scale is inaugurated, it is stated. The entire shaft bottom, it is learned ,is exposing ore ashaying better than $25 a ton in gold and silver, principally the former, exclusive of high grade streaks that yield values of several thousands of dollars to the ton. The vein, in which the shaft is being sunk has an average width of 13 1-2 feet and is traceable on the surface of the property for 3000 feet. The property is being developed by Messrs. Callison and Murphy as a private project.

The Idaho Mines, Ltd., controlled by Shirley Houghton, mining engineer of San Francisco and associates, is installing 50-horsepower gasoline hoist and three-drill compressor, replacing smaller equipment, on its Idaho property, 20 miles north of Sutter Creek, preparatory to the resumption of sinking operations in its 350-foot incline shaft, according to Superintendent John Noce. Levels have been established at the 100, 200 and 350-foot points. Exploratory work on the 100-foot level has revealed the vein as having a width of 15 feet, with assays of $7 to $8 a ton in gold, it is stated by Supt. Noce. Lateral wor kis being prosecuted on the 350-foot level to intersect the vein.

AWARDED COTRACT

The Diamond Match Company of Grass Valley was awarded the contract to furnish the new Forest Service building project lumber and cement and other building materials.

THREATENED DIVERSION OF HIGHWAY FUNDS

A committee composed of H. W. Robinson of Grass Valley, F. F. Cassidy, R. J. Bennetts and E. C. Uren of Nevada City visited Sacramento yesterday to interview chief engineer Purcell of the State Highways regarding a threatened diversion of funds allotted Tahoe-Ukiah highway improvements between Grass Valley and the Yuba County line.

The sum of $1,800,000 has been set aside this year for northern California, and the same amount for the southern part of the state.

Of this amount the Tahoe-Ukiah highway in Nevada County has been fortunate in securing $675,000, or more than one-third of the budget for the entire northern part of the state.

It now appears that Redding and Placerville, with certain uncompleted units of highway, feel that they are being somewhat slighted in the apportionment and are bringing pressure to bear toward diverting a part of the Nevada County funds.

On this particular stretch of the highway it was the original intention to spend the sum of $100,000 by pick and shovel methods, for the purpose of relieving unemployment. But there has been a growing disinclination on the part of those in charge of highway matters, to make these improvements in this obsolete manner as it means perhaps three or four times the expense in doing the work than if it were accomplished by modern methods.

The committee, therefore, went before Mr. Purcell with the assurance that Nevada County has no desire to see this money spent other than in the most approved manner.

W. B. DEAN OF DIAMOND MATCH MADE VICE PRES.

W. B. Dean, who has been general manager of the Diamond Match Company in this territory for a number of years, has been made vice president of the company by the board of directors at a meeting in New York. He will continue in charge of operations in California .Mr. Dean resides at Chico.

Dean's connection with the Diamond Match Company began in 1907 when he was made superintendent of the retail yards, which position he held until he was elevated to general manager in 1923.

It was at this time that the company was just beginning an expansion program which has incerased almost 100 per cent in both its wholesale and retail outlets. The brand retail yard department has, since [illegible]ded from 28 yards to 47 [illegible]ost of the principal [illegible]d towns in northern California.

IMPROVEMENT IN GOLD-BEARING GRAVEL AT VALLECITO MINE

SAN ANDREAS, Jan. 28.—(Special)—A 28 per cent improvement in metal content has been noted in the gold-bearing gravel recently yielded by the new discovery in the Vallecito Western mine of the Vallecito Mining Company, two and a half miles east of Angels Camp. The latest output has shown an average value of $10.20 a ton car, or $28.80 a cubic yard, one and a half tons of gravel constituting a cubic yard, as compared with an average of $22.50 a cubic yard previously obtained in the exploration of what is termed by A. Mgr. Don Steffa as the "third concentration" disclosed in the development of the property and situated at a vertical depth of 240 feet beneath the surface at a point 2200 feet east of the bottom or 153-foot level station of the company's main vertical working shaft.

Latest exploration of the new find has consisted of the extension of north and south crosscuts, having a combined length of 35 feet, from the face of the main east gangway. The gravel extracted in this work has shown the improuvement in metal content above stated, according to Manager Steffa.

These workings are a veritable "jewelry shop," nuggets varying in size from wheat kernels to peanuts, imbedded in the compressed mass of blue clay and gravel, being visible to the eye in surprising numbers. Although the limits of the new rich area have not been determined or breasting operations inaugurated, its exploration has been temporarily halted by the necessity of closely timbering the workings thus far advanced. It is calculated that about a week will be required to timber and place such workings in condition as to permit of further development work with economy and safety.

The Pioneer Chief mine, located two and a half miles southwest of San Andress, has been taken over by I. E. Selix ,merchant of San Francisco, Joseph E. King, mine operator of San Andreas, and W. L. Merrill, mining engineer of Sacramento, from Mrs. Lulene Tilden and Mrs. Mary Guyart, both of Los Angeles. Messrs. Selix, King and Merrill are officials of the Calaveras Development Company, which is aggressively operating the Ford mine, situated a half mile northeast of San Andreas.

A force of miners has been put to work and a 30-horsepower gasoline hoist installed on the Pioneer Chief property, embracing the mineral rights on 189 acres of land. Current operations are being confined to dewatering and retimbering the 535-foot incline shaft, which has a vertical depth of 415 feet, with 125 feet of drifts o the 200-foot level, 230 foot sump. All these workings were extended in 1914 and 1915 under the supervision of Mr. King, who states that they are all in ore averaging around $10 a ton in gold. The vein, which traverses the property for a distance of 8000 feet, he states, measures three to four feet in width on the 200-foot level, five to ten feet on the 350 and 12 feet on the 500-foot level. Thus far no stoping of ore has been done in the mine.

The Boston Mokelumne Mining company of which S. L. Davidson, merchant of San Francisco, is president, has resumed operation of its property, two miles northeast of Mokelumne Hill. Mine Manager Bat. Sullivan, who has directed work there for several years, states that for the immediate future the crew of workmen will be engaged in repairing the 1000-foot incline shaft and ore chutes, where necessary, and the demodeling of the company's too-ton daily capacity ball mill, making such changes as have been decided upon by the management to increase its efficiency, preparatory to the resumption of ore extraction on a large scale. Immense tonnages of commercial ores, it is stated, have been developed on the various levels of the mine, and are immediately available for reduction by the mill as soon as the management desires to draw on them. The property has a full complement of mechanical equipment, all electrically operated.

REFINANCING OF MAYFLOWER UNDERWAY

The Mayflower Gold Mines, Limited, of Nevada City, has been granted a permit by the State Corporation Department for the sale of its stock, and preparations are underway for the resumption of operations at the mine at an early date.

The Greenman shaft development will be carried ahead in conjunction with the more ambitious program of sinking a new central shaft at a point which will make it convenient to develop the Butterfly, Beckman, Mayflower, Floyd, North Star and Big Blue veins at depth.

The Mayflower Company have acquired some 400 acres of mineral land adjacent to their plant and if the present program is carried out, should become one of our best producers, as it is in a proven mineral zone.

Mr. Hood, former manager and promotor, is no longer connected in any way, either with the company or the mine.

G. J. Eisert, Sr., of San Francisco, is president of the company and H. W. Hosmer, also of San Francisco, is general manager, with M. Ivan Dow in active charge at the mine.

HIGH GRADE ORE STOLEN FROM HOGE MINING CO.

The Doge Development Company made a shipment of high grade sulphide ore recently, in bulk to the Selby Smelting Company, and it is believed that while the Narrow Gauge car lay in the Colfax yard some local highgrader made away with about a ton and a half of ore, valued at slightly more htan $100 per ton.

The loss was not discovered until the Southern Pacific car was weighed in at Roseville.

While the loss is regrettable and will have to be made good by the railroad company, it certainly speaks well for the property and the District when ore shipments will have to be protected by guards.

This incident savors somewhat of old times at the National Mine, which is situated some 70 miles north of Winnemucca, Nev. This property was held up and robbed underground one night several years ago; ore of very high value being accessible through a tunnel.

Immediately thereafter the company erected a 60-foot tower and search lihgt on an adjacent hillside, which commanded a good view of the tunnel entrance and plant, ad equipped it with machine guns.

If the Hoge Company continues to develop ore such as has bee taken from the 300-foot level and above in recent months, and banditry continues to flourish as it has, the property may find itself in much the same position as the National. Anyhow, heres hoping.

OMEGA MINE OPERATORS SUED FOR DAMAGES

Alferd A. Kneebone, owner of the Bridgeport pleasure resort, has filed suit in the Nevada County Superior Court asking for damages against the operators of the Omega mine, near Washington.

The complaint. drawn by attorney Oscar E. Winburn, of Grass Valley, sets forth that the Bridgeport resort was established in 1927 and that the main attraction is a large pool of clear water in the bed of the river at the resort and which has been used for 50years or more as a swimming pool. tl is alleged that the operators of the mine are not taking proper care of the mine debries and sediment but are permitting it to be dumped into the river. It is claimed that the debries contains 5 per cent more or less of a brown clayish sediment and in that condition reaches the nautral hwimming pool at the resort causing the water to be unfit for swimming or bathing.

Mr. Kneebone claims that he has an investiment of about $12,000 at the resort, and the the alleged polution of the water caused him to lose money during the 1930 season, and that unless the alleged polution is enjoined by order of the court his resort will have to be clossd and that his investiment will be lost.

The mine operators named in the M. L. Moore, W. R. Price, T. L. Larsen, the Omega Hill Mining Corporation, and others.

A PROTEST

The action of Alfred Kneebone against the Omega Mines Company is deeply regretted by the citizens of the county.

It is feared that this action will start a precedent which will eventually close down the greater part of our mines, throwing hundreds of our men out of employment.

OLD TIME RESIDENT FATALLY STICKEN

Last Monday afternoon funeral services were held at Colfax for the late Mrs. Marie Clarke, who for nearly twenty years spent much of her life as a resident of Nevada City and in the You Bet section. The body was brought to Nevada City for interment in the family plot in the Catholic cemetery on West Broad street, beside the body of her late husband, Leroy M. Clark, who met a tragic death at You Bet a number of years ago.

Graveside services were conducted by Rev. Father O'Reilly of St. Canice Catholic Church, and A. M. Holmes of the Holmes Funeral Home was in charge of the arrangements in this city.

Her death occurred on January 24 near the town of Iowa Hill where she has been living for some time past. Meningitis was the cause of her death, being ill but four days prior to her death.

TRYING TO INCREASE PRODUCTION OF GOLD

This is the time when the people of the 11 western mining states will show whether they have the same fortitude, and backbone that their forefathers and the pioneers had when they wrested the country from nature and built the backbone of the nantion.

"Gold, Gold, Gold." England is making inducements to increase African production. Australia has offered $5 an ounce bonus for every ounce of increased gold production over last year's production. New mines starting production receive the bonus on all they produce. Producing mines that increase their production receive the bonus on the increase.

California mining interests are preparing to ask the Legislature to take the taxes off gold mining. Idle mining property and bullion profits will be taxed, if the legislature passes the bill, but all money brought to the state for development, employing labor, and working mining property will be tax free. This will bring millions of idle money from taxed bank accounts to the state. It will create a market for lumber, cement, hardware, machinery ,tools, groceries, farm products, garden and fruit products, open restaurants and mining camp business. It will increase trucking and freighting and settle the unemployment question in that state. It will put the invested money in circulation as well as the new money from the mines. It will give the state its bullion tax on new gold that will far exceed the tax on idle property, or a little gas engine.

It is hoped that other western states will arise to the emergency and make inducements to bring tne millions of idle money to develop the mineral deposits. The west was built on "gold rushes." It can be developed by creating gold opportunities. There ih no incentive to build any more factories ,nor to enlarge the ones we have, for the existing industries are not working to capacity. Money can gather new money only where new money is found—Mining Joural .

YREKA MEN MAKE EARLY DAY GOLD DISCOVERY

The discovery of gold in southern Oregon was made, according to an article by J. Rolph Burroughs in in the Oregonian, by two Yreka men. Much of the glamour and hardships of the early day settlers in this vicinity and southern Oregon will be in the discovery of gold in southern part is as follows:

Two wayward mules and a drink of water played an important part in the discovery o fgold in southenr Oregon.

One evening late in the autumn of 1851 James Cluggage and James Poole, returning to Yreka, from Crescent City, laden with provisions, made camp on Bear creek near the site of Medford, Oregon. They awakened the following morning to find themselves possessed of some hundreds of pounds of provisions but minus any adequate means of transporting the provisions to Yreka, the two packmules having decamped during the night. Ever on the alert for the Rogue River Indians, who had fallen into the habit of plundering white people traveling through their country, Poole and Cluggage trailed the mules guided by their hoof prints, which showed plainly in the recently rain-soacked soil.

History does not relate which one of the men dismounted on the bank of a litle stream and stretching out at full length to take a drink spied a glittering array of gold nuggets.
